HONGKONG, SEPTEMBER 26th, 1913.

The steady drop in the price of Plantation rubber has caused much searching of heart, not only among planters in Malaya, but among all who have invested in the rubber companies of the Middle East. For one brief space of time in 1910 as much as 12s. a pound was realised at the auctions in London for Plantation sheets; Messrs. VERNON & SMYTH's last report gave the price as Two Shillings! A writer in the Malay Mail a fortnight ago, when rubber was 2s. 2d., said: "It is, of course, a fact that at the figure now obtaining many estates in this country cannot possibly produce except at a loss, which is a serious matter." The prophets are entirely confounded by this slump in the price of Plantation rubber. This is, indeed, a sad world for prophets—as well as apparently for profits. But the important question for the moment is, what is the explanation of this steady decline? Writing to a London financial paper recently, Mr. C. MALAY, of Singapore, said, "the present bear in plantation rubber is purely artificial." Other writers have been suggesting that Plantation rubber is being found inferior to Para for utilitarian purposes, and the pessimist is heard in the Malay States recalling the time when the superior soil, better cultivation, greater care and cheaper labour in Malaya were going to drive South American coffee out of the market, "yet somehow Malayan coffee never caught on as a superior article in the home market." Hence the pessimist is inclined to wonder whether this bit of Malayan history is to be repeated in the case of rubber, and he sighs for "more public recognition of Plantation excellence from actual manufacturers and users rather than from financial magnates." Again, it is asked: "Is it that buyers prefer to purchase one ton of Para at 3/6 and to deery Plantation in order to buy twenty tons of the latter at 1/- a lb. less? Or is there really some extra value in Para?" These questions are obviously of vital importance to all who have money invested in rubber estates in the Middle East. Mr. MALAY, discussing in the article to which we have already referred the question as to what relation the price of Plantation rubber will bear to Para in the future, says—"The present situation is obviously artificial, and nothing can be drawn from it, but, even supposing that the proposed methods of standardisation do not bring Plantation rubber up to the recognised plane of Para for commercial purposes, it must bring it much nearer than at present, especially with a little combination on the part of estate companies, and I think that for the next year or two Plantation will fetch within a penny or two of Para, if it does not reach parity again, which it should do. It only requires combination on the part of rubber growers to do this, and if once the Admiralty specifications are opened to Plantation, then many other closed sources of consumption—railway contracts, etc.—will come into line, and best smoked sheet will certainly sell on a par with Para. Supposing that the price of Plantation remains down now, the price of Para must come down also—or else Plantation will rise to meet it." These are very comfortable reflections for those who are heavily interested in Plantation rubber. The strength of their position resides in the fact that the demand for rubber is yearly increasing, while the output of Para is represented as having reached its maximum. But as against this we have to put the fact that scores of new rubber estates in the Middle East are now coming into bearing and the question is whether the supply will not very shortly far exceed the demand. For the present year the estimated consumption is 120,000 tons, and next year "it is not likely to be less, as manufacturers will begin with the certainty of cheaper rubber than they began this year with." As only 28,000 tons of Para (which the experts say cannot be increased) and a possible 70,000 tons of Plantation—total about 100,000 tons—will be commercially producible in 1914, at least 30,000 tons of other rubber must come from somewhere. This means that the bulk of the other wild rubbers now produced (47,000 tons?) must be kept on the market, and Mr. MALAY says, this cannot be done with Para at much less than 3s. 6d., so that for 1914 the price of Para must be automatically maintained at a reasonable level which will permit of this. "The price of Para at the present moment is governed by a close corporation which maintains it, and the same will undoubtedly happen to Plantation, which will tend to bring the two to parity. The price of Plantation will thus largely depend, not on the bogey of over-production, which has not yet come to pass, but on the amount of combination on the part of Plantation companies. This should mean 3s. at least for good sheet Plantation for 1914." As we have already remarked, this is a sad world for prophets, but it will be hoped that this prediction will not prove wide of the mark. Unless the consumption of rubber increases greatly there will be over-production in a couple of years from now, and it is satisfactory to see that the planters are alive to the danger and are contemplating the formation of Committees of Reorganisation and Control.

Dr. Martyn Lobb left by the Empress of India on a short visit Home and will be returning, we understand, with a wife.

It is notified that the business hitherto carried on by Mr. T. W. Kidd, under the style of the Hongkong Timber Company, will on October 1st be transferred to Messrs. Melchers & Co., and carried on by them under the style of Messrs. Melchers & Co. Timber Department.

The Westminster emphasises the cordial relations between the Nationalists and the Liberals, and declares that the Liberals will not countenance any action which would betray the cause of the Irish party. The article concludes by assuming that if the Unionists desire peace they should find some method of dealing with the Ulster situation which would prevent its blocking the policy of conciliation.

ULSTER DELEGATES MEET IN BELFAST.

Five hundred Ulster delegates met in the Ulster Hall, Belfast.

Sir Edward Carson and Lord Londonderry drove up, attended by a bodyguard of motor cyclists.

The Duke of Abercorn, Captain Craig M.P. and many Peers were present.

The conference finally approved of the articles for a Provisional Government, and Financial, Legal, Education, Customs, Excise, Post Office and Volunteer Force Committees were appointed.

The standing committee of the Ulster Unionist Council was appointed the Executive, with Sir Edward Carson as chairman, while the Rt. Hon. J. H. M. Campbell, P.C., Attorney-General for Ireland in 1905, was appointed Assessor.

Details will be published on the day when Home Rule becomes law.

The largest Union Jack in the world was spread over the platform.

Lord Londonderry opened the proceedings, which were conducted within closed doors, and an official statement was made afterwards.

Sir Edward Carson, addressing the conference, said they must recognise that two hostile parties were face to face. If Home Rule was not carried there would be trouble in the South; if it was carried there would be trouble in the North. Great Britain must be accepted as the arbiter between the parties. All the artifices of politicians and the subtleties of Radical pressmen would never convert what was essentially loyalty into treason. If there was disgrace in the fight before them, it was not disgrace for Ulster, but for the men who, for their own base purposes, had driven them into their present position. They would have had no right to take the step they had taken that day, with its possible consequences, if they had not exhausted every means to bring the Government to a real sense of the problem and its dangers.

Sir Edward Carson gave £10,000 as an indemnity fund.

PRESS COMMENT.

The proceedings at Belfast yesterday have been made the basis of admonitions by the Unionist Press to the Government to abandon the policy of drift and appeal to the electors if they do not wish to be responsible for certain bloodshed. They dwell on the orderly, practical and business-like character of the scheme for provisional government, and declare that if there was ever any doubt of the intentions of Ulster it is now removed.

The Liberal papers point out the undemocratic nature of the standing committee, which includes eighteen peers, and declare that this self-constituted authority means to rule Ulster on behalf of the Orange Lodges. They dwell on the bad impression created on workers by Carsonism, and assert that the hollowness of the movement is made evident by the elaborate advertisement.

THE HOME RULE CONTROVERSY.

"DOOR STILL OPEN FOR THE FULLEST DELIBERATION."

LONDON, September 25th.

The Westminster Gazette, in a long statement in reference to the articles in the Evening Standard and Pall Mall Gazette on the previous day (summarised in yesterday's telegrams), says that it may, of course, be taken for granted that the political situation was discussed by the public men who met at Balmoral and elsewhere, but there has been no necessity for any new decision on the part of the Government, for Ministers are of opinion that the door has always been, and still is, open for the fullest deliberation of every aspect of the Home Rule question.

The Westminster emphasises the cordial relations between the Nationalists and the Liberals, and declares that the Liberals will not countenance any action which would betray the cause of the Irish party. The article concludes by assuming that if the Unionists desire peace they should find some method of dealing with the Ulster situation which would prevent its blocking the policy of conciliation.

BRITISH EMPLOYERS FORM A DEFENCE UNION.

ENORMOUS GUARANTEE FUND CONTEMPLATED.

LONDON, September 25th.

The Times announces that a United Kingdom Employers' Defence Union has been formed, which will be registered as a trade union, with the object of consolidating the resources of the employers and maintaining their rights and freedom to bargain individually with free workers, or collectively with trade unions.

At a meeting last week two manufacturers promised £50,000 each towards a guarantee fund, which it was hoped would reach £50,000,000 sterling. Individual guarantees will become operative only when this sum is secured.

Servian and Montenegrin are acting jointly in warding off Albanian incursions. Montenegro has sent 60 men from each battalion to Diakova.

The Vienna Bourse is much depressed owing to the Albanian complications and the Servian military preparations.

Reuter's correspondent at Sofia wires that the Bulgarian Government has presented a note to the Russian Legation complaining of the "reign of terror" created by the Servians in Macedonia.

NAIROBI, September 25th.

Following the murder of Captain Aylmer in June by ivory poachers in Abyssinia, Lieutenant Jones, of the King's African Rifles, has been wounded at Kutoi, near Lake Rudolf. It is presumed that his assailants were Abyssinian ivory hunters. Troops were already en route before the news was received.

At the ninth opium sale at Calcutta on the 2nd inst., there was a further rise in prices, the total proceeds of 575 chests being two lakhs more than was realised at the August sale for the same number of chests. 100 chests of Bihar opium were sold, the highest price per chest realised being Rs. 3,000 and the lowest Rs. 2,995. Of Begar, opium 475 chests were sold, the highest price per chest being Rs. 2,800 and the lowest Rs. 2,595. The grand total for the sale was Rs. 15,34,800 as against Rs. 13,20,775 at the last sale, while the general average price per chest was Rs. 2,669-6-3 as compared with Rs. 2,296-2-1 last month.

JAPAN'S ACTION IN CHINA.

BRITAIN'S DIPLOMATIC SUPPORT.

Tokio, September 17th.

Before presenting the Japanese demands in Peking, the Foreign Office instructed Mr. Inouye, Japanese Ambassador in London, to sound the British Government and ascertain its attitude in the event of military action being taken against China. Mr. Inouye learned that Great Britain would view with approval military action against China at the present time, which was calculated to encourage the partition of that country amongst the Powers. Great Britain would support Japan in Peking diplomatically if demands for apology and indemnity were made, but could not countenance stronger action previous to the presentation of such demands.

MARRIAGE AND LONG LIFE.

BACHELORS AT DISADVANTAGE.

Statistics collected by the Federal authorities in America, and edited by Professor Wilcox, of Cornell University, show conclusively (says the New York correspondent of the Daily Telegraph) that married men have a much better chance of life than bachelors. The advantage is greatest in middle life, but at all ages before eighty it is marked. From twenty to thirty the death-rate among bachelors is 4.2, as compared with 3.6 among bachelors. In the decade following it is under 6, against nearly 12. Between forty and fifty the married man is better off in the proportion of 9.5 to 19.5. From fifty to sixty his margin of superior vitality is 11, and the ten years up to his allotted three score and ten years it is as much as 19.

Commenting on these figures, the Journal of the American Medical Association observes that some allowance must be made for the fact that men of bad or indifferent health are not willing to assume the burden and responsibility of a family. It is certain that the regular life of a married man, the care bestowed upon him by his wife, and his avoidance of unnecessary risks are all important factors in reducing his journey to the grave. At all ages the statistics show that unmarried men die at a rate almost twice that of the married men.

Women, oddly enough, seem to gain less by wedlock. Between twenty and thirty, owing probably to the dangers of childbirth, the death-rate of wives is higher than that of spinsters by 5 to 4. These figures are misleading, however, because, while the "girls" in this group include all between twenty and thirty, comparatively few of the wives are under twenty-five. In the more advanced ages the wives have some advantage over the spinsters, but not so much as the husbands over bachelors.

As to suicides, four-fifths are unmarried, but it is added, "small means and small hope of wedded life are apparently the chief contributing cause."

The recent celebrations of the birthday anniversary of the Emperor Francis Joseph will be overshadowed by those which are to be held in December next, when his Majesty will complete his sixty-fifth year as Emperor of Austria. It was not long ago that he talked of abdication. It was through the resignation of his uncle that Francis Joseph came to rule Austria, and it is interesting to note that Ferdinand lived for over twenty-six years after relinquishing the throne.

SUPREME COURT.

Thursday, September 25th.

IN SUMMARY JURISDICTION.

BEFORE HIS HONOUR MR. J. H. KEMP (PUISNE JUDGE).

SMALL CLAIM FOR RICE SOLD.

Action was brought by Chau In Man and Chau In Ting against the Hop Hing firm to recover the sum of $16.51, balance due for rice sold and delivered.

Mr. F. Mason appeared for the plaintiffs, and Mr. C. A. Sutherland Russ for the defendant firm.

Mr. Mason said he was not ready to go on, as his clients' books were missing. They were left at his office to be translated, so that they might get certified copies, but his interpreter, who had charge of the case, had gone to Saigon, and the books could not be found.

Mr. Russ very strongly opposed an adjournment. This was a very trifling case, the claim was one of only $16, and the costs had already run up to a considerable amount. He had a book which was chopped by one of the plaintiffs and set out all the items. If it would be shown in the course of the case that the cause of the action was that the book was wrongly added up. If the items were properly added, it would be found that the amount due was $12.80, and that amount had been settled.

Mr. Mason said his books showed a balance due of $26.51.

His Lordship—The claim is a very small one, and I would like to dispose of the case now if possible.

Mr. Russ said there was an uncertain balance of between $12 and $13 due, and one of the plaintiffs wrote to defendant and asked him to pay $10 in full settlement to his wife. Mr. Russ said he was going to submit that that was good accord and satisfaction. As far as he could see, the books were not material unless the details in plaintiffs' book disagreed with the details in the book he had put in.

After hearing evidence his Lordship entered judgment for plaintiff for $2.86 and costs.

STEAMER PIRATED IN CHINESE WATERS.

The s.s. Lieorne was attacked by a band of about seven or eight armed pirates at Ki O, in Chinese waters, at about 10.30 on Wednesday night. The steamer left Hongkong at about 7 o'clock in the evening, and when off Ki O the pirates rushed on board the vessel, presenting their revolvers and threatening the crew and passengers with ugly-looking knives. The robbers battered the passengers down in the hold, and tied up the master and coxswain. They then proceeded to examine the boat for booty, and took two chests of opium, $1,000 in money, and nine cases of cargo, and made good their escape in two of the ship's boats. The pirates were in charge of the vessel from 10.30 until nearly one o'clock in the morning, and deserted her in the neighbourhood of Wong Moon. Several passengers were injured more or less severely by knife and bullet wounds, but no one was killed. There was no European on board the vessel.

NAVAL AND MILITARY.

A draft of close on 200 non-commissioned officers and men of the 1st Gloucester Regiment is to proceed by steamship to Hongkong shortly to join the other battalion.

New crews for the sloop Rosario, parent ship of Far East Submarine Flotilla, and surveying ship Mertin, employed on the China Station, left the Naval Depot, Chatham, on 27th inst. for Devonport.

The following appointments have been made at the Admiralty:—Commander M. Baillie-Hamilton, to the Triumph, on recommissioning, to date August 28th. Lieutenants C. P. Charnley (as navigating officer), C. M. L. Scott, C. A. Browne, B. C. Porter, and J. G. Bowles, to the Mertin, on recommissioning, undated.

Royal Marines.—Captain R.M.L.I.—C. L. E. Muntz, to the Triumph, for passage, for the Tamar, on joining. Lieutenant R.M.L.I.—F. H. Thomas, to the Triumph, for passage to China, for the Tamar, as instructor of musketry, Hongkong.

Lieut. Francis Allen Newton Cromie, who has been appointed to succeed Commander Archdale in command of the Submarine Flotilla at Hongkong, passed the whole of his time as naval cadet and midshipman on the China Station, in the Barfleur, flagship of Rear-Admirals C. C. Penrose, Fitzgerald and Sir James Bruce, from May, 1896, to the end of 1901. He was mentioned in dispatches for his services at Tientsin in June, 1900, during the Boxer outbreak, and has the medal for this.

Major R. B. Airey, A.S.C., has been selected for service in North China.

Major P. B. Morris, Duke of Cornwall's L.I., has been placed on duty with the draft joining the 2nd Battalion at Hongkong.

Capt. W. A. Moore, R.G.A., has been appointed to the Hongkong-Singapore Battalion, R.A.

DIARRHGEA AND ITS DANGERS.

During the semi-tropical summer weather, everyone always has before him the bugbear of stomach troubles in general and diarrhoea in particular. They are the result of a combination of the depressing influence of heat on the nervous system, and the prevalence of disease germs which thrive in the warmer temperature.

It, therefore, behoves everyone to be particularly heed to eating light but absolutely nutritious food which is absolutely pure and free from germs. These qualities are found in Sanatogen. A physician, writing in The Medical Press and Circular, states: "Sanatogen is a perfectly ideal food, as it is readily absorbable and also possesses nutritive qualities of the highest value."

Sanatogen's value, even in the most serious forms of diarrhoea which accompany typhoid fever, has been attested by the leading medical journals of the world. A physician writes in The Medical Times: "In the diarrhoea of typhoid fever, allow the patient nothing but water and Sanatogen for three or four days, and have found the practice answer wonderfully well."

One reason for Sanatogen's value in this condition is pointed out by a doctor, writing in The General Practitioner, who says: "Sanatogen undergoes rapid and complete absorption in the healthy stomach, and a precisely similar result is soon in diseased conditions."

Diarrhoea lowers both the physical and nervous strength, and as Sanatogen is supreme in restoring the nervous and physical systems to their highest vigour, it soon revitalises the sufferer, who feels better than he has been for a very long time. For these reasons, everyone who suffers from diarrhoea should take Sanatogen, which can be obtained from all Chemists, without any delay.

INDIAN WEDDING IN LONDON.

INCENSE AND CONCH SHELLS.

MARRIAGE OF GAERWAR'S DAUGHTER.

While the sun was shining with a brilliance almost worthy of an Indian summer, Princess Indira, the pretty daughter of the Gaerwar of Baroda, was married in London on the 25th inst. to Maharajah Kumar Jitendra Narayan of Cooh Behar.

The wedding was in three separate ceremonies, embracing the ornate and symbolic observances of the East and the severe formality of the English registry office. The bride and bridegroom looked extremely happy.

The wedding was originally fixed to take place in India last May, but through racial objections from the bride's parents it was cancelled almost at the last moment and the bride brought to England.

Since then, however, her parents' objections have been overcome.

The first ceremony took place at the Buckingham Palace Hotel, where the Princess has been staying, and consisted of the reception of the bride into the Brahmo Samaj, the bridegroom's religion. During this service incense was employed, and strange music was produced by blowing into conch shells.

The second ceremony was in the precise surroundings of the Puddington Registry Office, in Harrow-road, and when the bridegroom drove up in a motor-car a crowd of nearly 300 persons had gathered. The Prince wore a dark lounge suit and a straw hat. The Maharajah of Cooh Behar, his mother, wore a grey silk cloak over her dress, and a lace scarf over her head.

AEROPLANE MASCOT.

The bride arrived in a sumptuously appointed motor-car, which had a silver aeroplane as a mascot on the bonnet. She wore a fashionable rose Barry morning dress, cut low at the throat, with a deep collar of white lace. She was attended by a companion and Captain Parah, her A.D.C. In the marriage certificate the bridegroom's age was given as twenty-six and that of the bride as twenty-one. One of the witnesses was Sir Krishna Gupta, a member of the Council of the Government of India.

The bride and bridegroom smilingly faced the dozen photographers who awaited them as they left the registry office, and one poorly dressed woman, with a baby in her arms, threw a handful of confetti over them.

The party returned to the hotel, where the ceremony according to the bridegroom's religion was performed. The subtle odour of incense-floated through the open windows to the street, and so did the weird music of the conch shells.

The bride had changed her European dress for the pink and gold saree of India and the Prince wore a native white costume and turban. One feature of the Indian ceremony was that the bride and bridegroom sat with their hands entwined beneath a chain of everlasting flowers.

A party of thirty partook of the wedding breakfast, and later in the afternoon, at her town residence, the Maharajah of Cooh Behar received her daughter-in-law with Eastern ceremonial, presented her with jewels, and said special prayers as prescribed by the ritual of her creed. A reception followed and was numerous attended. The wedding cake was cut by the bridegroom with the State sword of Cooh Behar, and pieces were distributed among the guests.

Among the splendid wedding presents were the following:

The Maharajah of Cooh Behar: Pearl and diamond tiara and diamond Indira brooch.

The Maharajah: Diamond and emerald necklace, and pearl gipsy earrings.

Bridegroom to bride: Pearl and diamond negligee, diamond and emerald crest brooch, enamel clock with diamond hands, ruby and diamond watch pendant with pearl and gold chain.

DEARER SUITS.

TAILOR'S RUSE TO COVER INCREASED PRICES.

West-end tailors are grappling with the problem of the dearer suit, states a London paper. The effect of the high price of wool and the increase in wages which followed the tailors' strike is now making itself felt in the account books of the tailors, and so the tailors argue, the price of all suits ought to be advanced by from 8s. 6d. to 11s., according to the class of suit.

In other trades the increased cost of the raw material, which has become such an unpleasantly familiar feature of domestic economics, is immediately followed by a rise in the price charged to the consumer.

But customers who have been in the habit year after year of paying, say, £3 10s. for a lounge suit, £4 10s. for a morning suit, and £6 6s. for a dress suit, flatly decline to recognise any other standard of prices, and the tailor with a regular clientele who attempts to put up the prices of his suits in accordance with their increased cost would assuredly be taking the first step on the road that inevitably ends in Carey-street.

The tailors therefore are meeting this new difficulty by adjusting materials to the old prices. That is to say, customers who have always paid £3 10s. for their lounge suits are still being given a suit at that price, but it is not the suit of a year ago. The price is now being put according to the cloth. For a suit identical in quality and workmanship with that which was sold last year at £3 10s. the customer would have to pay to-day £3 18s. 6d.

The extra cost in wages entailed in making a lounge suit is 3s. 6d., said a West-end tailor. "All woollen materials are costing us more, a rise of some 15 per cent. on the raw material accounting for a difference of several shillings in the cost of the fabric required for a lounge suit. Buttons, and in fact, all sundries, have also advanced in price. In the case of a morning-suit-frock-coats are, of course, obsolete—a suit similar in quality to that sold for £4 10s. last year could not be sold under 25 to-day. The increased cost of wages is a very serious item in the case of the dress suit, amounting as it does to an additional 10s. on every suit made. This, together with the higher price that has to be paid for cloth and silk, means an increase of 11s. on the whole suit." School outfits have also increased in price.

There is a rise of 3d. per pair on stockings, and many of the warm woollen undergarments required for the winter have gone up by as much as a shilling. An advance of 20 per cent. in the price of boots, too, becomes a formidable item of expenditure when a family of growing schoolboys has to be shod.

PETER, NESTLE AND KOHLER CHOCOLATES.

PRIZE COMPETITION NO. 7. (September).

This month we are offering PRIZES for "EULOGIUMS."

Take any one of the following names:—

PETER, NESTLE OR KOHLER.

Write the letters forming this name, perpendicularly, and construct a sentence describing the Chocolate called by that name.

Each letter of the name must be the initial letter of a word.

Every sentence must contain the same number of words as there are letters in the name used. Below we give you three examples:—

EASILY	EATING	ORDERED
STANDS	THIS	HAPPINESS
TOP	EVER	LIVES
LAUREL	REORDER	EVERYBODY
EVERYWHERE		RAPTUROUS.

CONDITIONS.

Every three "Eulogiums" to be accompanied by a PETER'S, NESTLE'S or KOHLER'S Wrapper. So for one wrapper you may send more than one "Eulogium."

"Eulogiums" may be sent in under a nom de plume, which, if a winner, will be published in the Local Papers. Your name will be treated confidentially by us.

The First Prize will be one of our WRIST WATCHES, and will be given for what we consider the best "Eulogium."

Consolation Prizes consisting of Chocolate will be given for "Eulogium," which we consider are deserving of such.

Imitation being the sincerest form of flattery, we reserve the right to make future use of the "Eulogiums" without disclosing the authors' names.

Post your attempts to Messrs. Peter's and Nest
